DR. NORM SHEALY AND TMI: PARTNERS IN HEALING, CONSCIOUSNESS, AND TECHNOLOGY

When Norman Shealy, MD, stepped up to the podium to deliver the keynote address at TMI's 2016 Professional Seminar, it was a benchmark moment.

What was so extraordinary?

It was one of those moments when someone's life's work is revealed to have been, and continues to be, a powerful change agent, altering forever the way we think about life.

Dr. Shealy is one of the world's leading experts in pain and depression management. His research has resulted in numerous pioneering treatments using conventional, complementary, and alternative modalities.

Robert Monroe's and Dr. Shealy's work, unfolding in parallel and sometimes intersecting, both began with investigations into an esoteric and often deeply suspect realm—the confluence of human consciousness, science, and technology. Both men harnessed the power of the rational and intuitive minds. Both men pioneered toolsets that elevated the quality of life on Earth. Both men transmuted common constituents into creations of great value.

Today, the collaboration of Dr. Shealy's and Robert Monroe's approaches is demonstrated innovatively by TMI Professional Division members Brian Dailey, MD, and Sergey Sorin, MD, of Samvit Wellness. Along with member Allyn Evans, Samvit's president and program director—and joined, schedule permitting, by Dr. Shealy—Drs. Dailey and Sorin teach "Sound Medicine,” a new program offering healing tools, such as how to use Hemi-Sync® to relieve pain, heal faster, and sleep better. More good news: Sound Medicine offers CEU /CME II credits for medical professionals and others.

Drs. Dailey and Sorin utilize Monroe audio technologies extensively with patients. Why? To cite just one example, as an adjunct to cancer treatment. See “Cancer Patients Using Hemi-Sync® for Relief” by Allyn Evans.

Dr. Shealy and internationally known author, lecturer, teacher, and medical intuitive Caroline Myss are colleagues of more than thirty years. It was Dr. Shealy who coined the term, “medical intuitive.” Dr. Shealy’s breakthrough research into medical intuition spawned the “science of medical intuition,” as Caroline Myss has pointed out. That work opened the door for other medical intuitives, among them, TMI’s own Winter Robinson, co-developer-trainer with Larry Burk, MD, (both pictured below) premiering the (newly expanded by popular demand) Medical Intuition and Symbolic Dis-ease program at TMI May 14–20 program. Hear Dr. Burk explain further in the video below.
